---

Looking to put into practice my newly acquired web development skills. I am excited and passionate about creating apps that are both aesthetically pleasing and useful. My interests range from UI/UX design to back-end development, particularly with Ruby on Rails. I wish to be part of a team that can both challenge and mentor me.

Projects

Flipside

By using the Nokogiri Ruby gem a topic of choice is scraped from various news websites and then rendered side by side to compare opposing viewpoints on the selected topic.

Freshbooked

By answering three simple questions like "genre", "time-period", and "book length" this app generates books by using the GoogleBooks API. Inspired by the "Paradox of Choice" this app narrows and simplifies your options to no more than three books to choose from, therefore making your next book option easy.
